BOLD IS INVESTING IN A FUTURE OF GREATNESS FOR THE CITY OF DETROIT AND ITS PEOPLE.
BOLD IS INVESTING IN A FUTURE OF GREATNESS FOR THE CITY OF DETROIT AND ITS PEOPLE.
We believe

Detroit is on track to regain its rightful position as one of the world’s great cities through initiatives to revitalize the city’s neighborhoods and Woodward Corridor, nurture arts and culture, bolster entrepreneurship, catalyze mass transit, support early childhood development and increase civic capacity.

M-1 Rail is the 3.3 mile streetcar route along Woodward Avenue, Detroit’s main artery, designed to fuel a local and regional transformation, stimulating business growth and development while creating reliable public transportation that will connect citizens with jobs.

Kresge has invested $50 million in the $170 million public-private project, which will go into operation in late 2016.

Following the 2014 groundbreaking, 2,000 construction jobs will contribute to the local economy; an additional 20,000 jobs are predicted once a full regional transit system is in place.

M-1 Rail is considered the first leg of the regional system.

Why It Matters

- 26 percent of Detroit’s households lack a vehicle, compared with 9 percent nationally. Light rail serves an acute need for transportation.

- With separate city and suburban bus systems, the region has repeatedly failed to create a unified system.

- A recent study found that communities see a $4 return in economic development, productivity and new jobs for every dollar invested in public transportation.

Supported by this grant, the design center is organizing and hosting the Association for Community Design’s national conference, entitled EMERGENCE, in Detroit.

Each year, more than 400 academic and community programs, Wayne State is a comprehensive, urban research university offering more than 400 academic and community programs. Funding from this three-year, $300,000 grant enables the university’s Center for Urban Studies to continue its management of the Detroit/Wayne County Green and Healthy Homes Initiative, a collaborative effort to expand the number of green, healthy homes citywide.

Each year, more than 9,000 at-risk children and families in Southeast Michigan receive assistance through the agency’s 13 programs and 14 service sites. Through a three-year, $450,000 grant, Starfish is completing phase two of a comprehensive, long-term early childhood education strategy that improves and expands its current services.

The community-based Southwest Detroit youth group promotes the holistic development of young people in urban settings through relationship building, community education and passion-driven projects. It is using a two-year, $150,000 grant to support the second cohort of the program, which places mid-career community development professionals in two-year fellowships at public and nonprofit organizations focused on the revitalization of Detroit.

The university’s School of Education and Merrill Palmer Skillman Institute for Child and Family Development, and advances community efforts to promote quality child care in Detroit’s downtown, Midtown and North End neighborhoods.

The nonprofit organization seeks to improve and promote transit in greater Detroit area and along the McNichols Corridor in Northwest Detroit. Starfish is using a three-year, $1 million grant to launch Thrive By Five Detroit, a collaborative initiative to provide high-quality early childhood development services for an additional 1,000 Detroit children from birth to five years of age.

Wayne State is a comprehensive, urban research university offering more than 400 academic and community programs. Funding from this three-year, $353,000 grant allows the university’s Center for Urban Studies to administer and support the expansion of the AmeriCorps Urban Safety program in the Southwest Detroit and University District neighborhoods.
Since 2007, we have provided more than $19 million in operating support to small, midsize and large organizations in metropolitan Detroit’s Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties through Detroit Arts Support. In 2014, we awarded 65 grants totaling more than $4.1 million through this effort.

One of the Detroit Program’s strategic objectives is a multifaceted approach to support and develop Wayne, Oakland and Macomb county artists and arts and cultural institutions and organizations. Kresge Arts in Detroit consists of the Kresge Eminent Artist Award and Kresge Artist Fellowships. We believe arts and culture contribute to an essential quality of life that is vibrant, diverse and self-enriching.
