

Driving Resilience through Deep Democracy

A Time for Transition & Transformation

Purpose of this Workshop

Create space for Dialogue that helps us to...

- Re-center: What's at the heart of the work? What is the boldness and depth this work requires at its core?
- Zoom out: What is the big picture? What is the long arc that we need to orient towards?

Agenda

1. Reflection & Connection to uncover essential questions
2. Explore those questions through conversation with Alvina Wong of APEN and John Washington of PUSH:
 1. A Just Transition approach to bolder leaps
 2. The depth of relationship and collaboration needed to achieve big leaps
3. Dive deeper into relationships & leaps over lunch via Just Transitions Planning framework
4. Peer consultancies around fundamental challenges to big leaps

COMMUNITY POWER
& PLANNING ENGINE

Share briefly about your Climate Resilience Work...

- Where are you feeling significant progress or depth of practice?
- What's a challenge you're grappling with?

Reflection

- What is standing out to you about each other's experiences?
- What is really needed in this moment?
- What are the fundamental shifts or pivots needed to meet this moment?

Transition & Transformation

- When we think about what's really needed to achieve Climate Resilience, what are the bold leaps we need to make?
- What are the bigger questions we need to center in our work?

Living into the Question

Write down one essential question that feels important for you to name and grapple with now

Storytelling & Discussion

Whole Systems: Building a Just Transition to Resilient Communities Through Deep Democracy

- Alvina Wong, APEN (Bay Area)
- John Washington, PUSH Buffalo

Relationships & Leaps over Lunch

Reflect on your essential question:

- Where can a pivot or a leap be made?
- Where can relationships be made, strengthened, deepened?

Looking at the Stepping Stones to a Just Transition Strategy:

- Locate what stepping stone your work is on now, and name stepping stones where you have spent significant time
- Which stepping stones would help you make the next leap?

Peer Challenge Consultation

5m Present the challenge and any context that is critical to understanding the challenge

5m Clarifying questions from the group

15m Peer discussion about the challenge
